

RESULTS FROM THE GREATER NEW YORK REGIONALS OF THE ACM PROGRAMMING CONTEST

Yale sent two teams

Yale 1

David Golub '10, Jake Snell '10, Harley Trung '10

Yale 2

Kwabena Antwi-Boasiako '11, Anthony Hsu '12, Jonathan Thirman '11

to the Greater New York Regionals of the ACM Collegiate Programming Contest, held at Hofstra University in Hempstead, NY (on Long Island) on Sunday, October 18th.

Yale 2 finished 11th overall, out of 50 teams, solving 7 of the 9 problems in 815 minutes elapsed time.

Yale 1 finished 14th overall, solving 6 of the 9 problems in 694 minutes elapsed time.

Full details (including both problems and standings) will be available soon at <http://www.acmgnyr.org/>

Congratulations to all who participated.