Elections must be: Correct, Usable, Reliable, Auditable, and Transparent.

The ACCURATE center is improving the way people vote by developing and disseminating the science of voting systems including research into the public policy, technology and law of voting.